An old -fashioned point of contact is the Stiftung Warentest, which was found in 1964 on the order. Privado media also provide consumer magazines with serious results. The tests are often not carried out by the editorial offices themselves, but are awarded externally - to companies that offer laboratories and specialist personnel for such tasks. As a TäeV, the tea with its different sub -departments also receives appearance from magazines. This means that neutralite and professional process are largely GMENTOLESTET. As an accompanying appearance of the Internet, consumers' experience has become increasingly important for several years. If a product of several dozen reviewers is rated in a certain direction, it will most likely be as good or bad as the assessments can be expected. All prices include statutory VAT. The offer information is based on information from the respective workshop and updated by automated processes. There is no real-time update, so the price has increased since the last update. The real price offered by the shop on your website at the time of purchase is good. Learn more about this in our Neutral Guide to FAQ FAQs: useful for product selection, well-tested products; suitable for the protection and revocation of data from the season.
