In this post, we learn how to submit a form by the Ajax post method in laravel. Ajax is great to submit forms or get data from the database without reloading or refresh the page. We also validation our data in the Laravel controller and show an error message in your blade file. Ajax form submit in Laravel Step 1: Make Route for Submit Form Here I make two routes one to get the form and another to submit the form. Route::get('get-form', ['email protected']); Route::post('submit-form', ['email protected']); Step 2: Create a Model, Controller and Migration We create a model, controller, and migration file with the following one command. php artisan make:model Contact -mcr By running this command artisan will generate model, controller, and migration file for contact. Step : 3 Migration Contact Form To migrate the contact migration run this command php artisan migrate Step: 4 Make a Simple Contact Form In this form, we added a success alert, which is shown when the form is submitted successfully, and an error message, which is come from the Laravel controller. Thank you for getting in touch! Name Email address Mobile Message Submit Step 5: JQuery Ajax code for sending form
